

Memorandum of Understanding

Universities against the Death Penalty Network

Membership in the Universities against the Death Penalty Network entails lending the university's name, its moral and intellectual weight and its symbolic power to the struggle to abolish the death penalty. This is all that universities are formally committing themselves to do. However, much more can be done by the universities on a voluntary basis. Information about the initiatives of other universities will be transmitted to everyone in the network. The network's webpage is:
